

Donate To MyGermanCity.com

MyGermanCity.com is being built for travelers and expats who are interested in and passionate about Germany — people just like you! Thousands of high quality pages are available at your finger tips, all free of charge.

As a result, people ask me how they can help or what they can contribute to the site and its further development.

If you like and appreciate what you read and learn here on the site, and you would like to support the further development of MyGermanCity.com, you can!

There are a lot of things I would like to see added to, and/or improved on, the site; plus, I would love to give more people a job!

So, your donations are much appreciated. Any amount helps.
