

Westerwaldkreis -- Rugged Mountains, Natural Beauty

In the rugged Westerwald mountains of northern Rhineland-Palatinate sits the stunning and unique Westerwaldkreis — the western forest district. Bordering on to Hesse in the east, and neighboring the romantic city of Koblenz to the south, this region has a deep history and much of it can still be found.

The 12th century castle in Hachenburg was the Seat of the Counts of Sayn and the huge monastery are now filled with festivals and open-air concerts throughout the year.

The medieval town of Westerburg has a 12th century castle with its 16th century church being its landmark building. You will see why when you visit.

Montabaur continues this theme of the Westerwaldkreis with a striking yellow castle inside its great city walls. It also has an endless supply of glorious churches to tour.

With more modern buildings but equally ancient roots, Bad Marienberg is a Kneipp health resort high in the mountains, and is a great start for many short walks and long hikes.
